NATIONAL SCHOOL OF DENTAL THERAPY SASKATCHEWAN INDIAN FEDERATED COLLEGE

The Saskatchewan Indian Federated College is a First Nations controlled university college with campuses in Regina, Saskatoon and Prince Albert. Federated with the University of Regina since 1976. SIFC offers undergraduate and graduate university courses and programs in an environment of First Nations cultural affirmation. SIFC manages the National School of Dental Therapy with funding from Health Canada.

DENTIST/INSTRUCTOR

Employment opportunity for a full-time DENTIST/INSTRUCTOR in the 2-year diploma program in dental therapy at the National School of Dental Therapy (NSDT) in Prince Albert, Saskatchewan. This is an ideal posting for dentists keenly interested in public health promotion in First Nations, Inuit and other northern communities in Canada.

NSDT trains dental therapists to work in First Nations and Northern communities. Dental therapists assess community oral health needs and deliver dental therapy programs, which include community health, preventive and restorative/operative dental services within their scope of practice.

Qualifications: The ideal candidate will have a thorough understanding of the work and role of dental therapists in Canada, experience in First Nations and Inuit cultures, additional training and experience in adult education, especially in an aboriginal context. Knowledge of a First Nations/Inuit language would be an asset. Candidates must be eligible to be licensed as a dentist in Saskatchewan and the Northwest Territories. SIFC offers a competitive compensation and benefits package.

Please forward your resume by April 15, 1999, to:

Dr. Carl Beal
SIFC, National School of Dental Therapy
710 - 15th Avenue East
Prince Albert, SK S6V 7A4
